Please note that redacted personal phone lines have been identified as being within the coverage of G. L. c. 4, § 7(26)(c)[1] and therefore may not be produced because disclosure would result in an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Please also note that certain redacted information (portfolio account numbers and Zoom meeting credentials) has been identified as being within the coverage of G. L. c. 4, § 7(26)(n)[2] and therefore may not be produced as it pertains to internal security measures.

[1]G. L. c. 4, § 7(26)(c) exempts “personnel and medical files or information and any other materials or data relating to a specifically named individual, the disclosure of which may constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy; provided, however, that this subclause shall not apply to records related to a law enforcement misconduct investigation.”

[2] G. L. c. 4, § 7(26)(n) exempts “records, including, but not limited to… policies, procedures…, security measures…or any other records relating to the security or safety of persons or buildings, structures, facilities…located within the commonwealth, the disclosure of which, in the reasonable judgment of the record custodian, subject to review by the supervisor of public records under subsection (c) of section 10 of chapter 66, is likely to jeopardize public safety or cyber security.

Please also note that certain information (manager presentations and performance data) has been identified by the respective investment managers as being within the coverage of M.G. L. c. 32, §23(6)[3], and therefore may not be disclosed because disclosure would likely impair the government's ability to obtain such information in the future and is likely to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person or entity from whom the information was obtained.

The information was provided to PRIM by investment managers and includes trade secrets or commercial or financial information. Public disclosure of the requested information would impair PRIM's ability to obtain such information in the future for making investment decisions.

Moreover, the information was provided by investment managers who indicate that public disclosure of the requested records would prejudice their ability to compete for investors in future funds and would provide their competitors an unfair competitive advantage, resulting in competitive harm to the investment firms in which PRIM invests. Some withheld information was also provided under the protection of confidentiality terms contained in agreements. Public disclosure of the requested information would impair PRIM's ability to obtain such information in the future as investment managers would view PRIM as unable to honor its confidentiality agreements.

Pursuant to 950 CMR §32.08(1) and M.G.L. c. 66 § 10(a), you are hereby advised of your remedies including your right to appeal to the Supervisor of Records and the right to seek judicial review of an unfavorable decision by commencing a civil action in the superior court.

If you have any questions regarding this response, please contact me at jfitzpatrick@mapension.com.

Sincerely,

/s/John Fitzpatrick
